From the Albany Re-TIGHT TIMES.

Tight Times.

This chap is around again. He has been in town for a week. He may be seen on Change every day. He is over on the Pier, along Quay street, up Broadway, stalks up State street, looks in at the Banks, and lounges in the Hotels. He bores omerchants, and seats himself cozily in lawyers offices. He is everywhere.

A great disturber of the public quiet, a pestilent fellow is this same ricert times. Every body talks about him, every body looks out for him, every body hates him, and a great many hand words and no little profane epithets are bestowed upon him. Every body would avoid him if they could, every body would hiss him from Change, hoot him off the Pier, chase him from Quay street, hustle him out of Broodway, kick him out of the Banks, throw him out of the Stores, out of the Hotels, but they can't. Truth This is a bore. A burr, he will stick. Hints are thrown away on him, abuse lavished in vain, kicks, cuffs, profanity, are all thrown away upon him. He is impervious to them all.

An impudent fellow is tight times. Ask for a

An impudent fellow is tight times. Ask for a discount, and he looks over your shoulder, winks to the cashier, and your note is thrown out. Ask a loan of the usurers at one per cent, a month, he looks over your securities and marks two and half. Present a bill to your debtor, rearr rights shrugs his shoulders, rolls up his eyes, and you must call again. A wife asks for a fashionable brocade, a daughter for a new bonnet. He puts in his caveat, and the brocade and bonnet are postponed.

Central to par, to minety-five, ninety, eighty-five.
He plays the dence with Michigan Central, with Michigan Southern, and Hudson River, with New process of construction, and the Irishmen throw down their shovels and walk away. He puts his mark upon railroad bonds, and they find no purchasers, are hissed out of market, become obsolete, absolutely dead.

A great exploder of bubbles is mour TIMES. He looks into the affairs of gold companies, and they fly to pieces, into kiting banks, and they stop payment; into rickity insurance companies, and they vanish away. He walks around corner lots, draws metal becomes dross. He breathes upon the cunningest schemes of speculation, and they burst like a torpedo.

A hard master for the poor, a cruel enemy to the laboring masses is TORT TIMES. He takes the mechanic from his bench, the laborer from his work, the hod-carrier from his badder. He runs up the prices of provisions, and he runs down the wages of labor. He runs up the price of fuel, and he runs down the ability to purchase it at any price. He makes little children hungry and cry for food, cold and cry for fire and clothing. He makes poorwomen sad, makes mothers weep, discourages the hearts of fathers, carries care and anxiety intofamilies, and sits a crouching desolation in the corner and on the hearth-stones of the poor. A hard master to the poor is TORIT TIMES.

A curious fellow is TIONT TIMES, full of idiosyncracies and crotchets. A cosmopolite, a wanderer too. Where he comes from nobody knows, and where he goes nobody knows. He flashes along the telegraph wires, he takes a free passage in the cars, he seats himself in the stages, or goes along the turnpike on foot. He is a gentleman in Wall street to-day, and a back settler on the borders of civilization to-morrow. We hear of him in London, in Paris, in St. Petersburgh, at Vienna, Berlin, at Constantinople, at Calcutta, in China, all over the commercial world, in every great city, in every rural district, everywhere.

There is one way to avoid being bored by this troublesome fellow, TIGHT TIMES. It is the only way for a country, a city, a town, as well as individual men to keep shut of his proceace always. Let the country that would banish him, beware of extravagance, of speculation, of over-trading, of embarking in visionary schemes of aggrandizement. Let it keep out of wars, avoid internal commotions, and go right along, taking care of its own interests and husbanding its resources.

Let the city that would exclude him be economical in its expenditures, indulging in no shemee of speculation, making no uscless improvements, building no railroads' that Experiences in Gunner.—Ever since July last, with occasional unavoidable intermissions, a series of important experiments has been progressing, near the new Insane Asylum, under the superincendence of Licutenant John A. Dahlgreen, assisted by Licutenant Jones. The object is to test the metal—cast-iron—of which a heavy piece of ord-nance is constructed, with a view to its adoption in the navy of the United States. The gun is the largest in the country, with a bore of eleven inches, and weighing sixteen thousand pounds.

Upwards of one thousand and forty rounds

Upwards of one thousand and forty rounds have been fired, thus far—generally thirty a day. Pi'teen pounds of powder serves for a single charge, and the shot average, each, one hundred and sixty-eight pounds. So, it would appear that this is no populu affair. The cannon, we learn, was manufactured at a northern private establishment.

The shell are fired into an embankment, from which they are recovered, and again made use of for the experiments.

NEW YORK CORRESPONDENCE.

New York, Nov. 18, 1864.

The new paper which has just been commenced at the seat of government will no doubt be received with much favor throughout the country. The object to which it is more particularly devoted is dear to the heart of every true-born American. That there must be something done to put a stop to the foreign influence which is so rapidly gaining ground, no friend to his country will deny. In this city, the foreign vote is very large, and I can say, without the fear of contradiction, that the majority of these voters have not been in this country six years, while those born here cannot enjoy the privilege of voting until they arrive at the age of twenty-one. Now, this is wrong, and I trust another winter will not be allowed to pass without something being done to remody this matter.

The news received from Massachusetts of the election held in that State on Monday, has created quite a sensation here, and if our election was yet to take place, there would unquestionably be an overwhelming majority for the American or Know Nothing party. As it was there has been a very handome vote polled by this party.

In conversation to-day with an editor of one of the leading Whig papers here, he spoke of the Organ with much disrespect, and said "it would not last long." But, mark, this same editor is a foreigner. I differ with him in toto. My opinion is that it must succeed—the whole country appears to be awake on the subject, and if there is not enough of the true American spirit abroad to support a paper at Washington, devoted to the true interest of this country, then good by to the American party.

interest of this country, then good by to the American party.

Disasters accumulate rapidly, and hardly a week passes that we do not hear of the loss of life by the hundred. The last shipwreck which we have heard of, took place on the New Jersey shore last Monday morning, by which near three hundred lives were lost. They were mostly German emigrants. Business is uncommonly dull here at present, and failures take place daily, but they generally are of small houses. The only business which appears to pay is that of the publishers of cheap and standard literature. For instance, "Pashion and Famine" has already reached a sale of near forty thousand copies. This book is got up in good style, and neatly printed, and is published by Bunce & Brother, who have also just issued a book entitled "Jonathan Stock, Esq., of Wethersfield," being a series of letters published in one of our daily papers some years since. It certainly is one of the most amusing books lately issued, and any one most amusing books lately issued, and any one troubled with the bines cannot do better than road

We will remind it that the clergy have the same political rights as other citizens; and so thought the people of Georgia, when they sent to the United States
House of Representatives, and afterwards to the Senate, the eloquent and accomplished Democrat, Rev.
Mr. Colquist; so thought the people of Alabama when they sent the Rev. H. W. Hilliard; so thought the people of New Hampshire when they sent that thorough-going Democrat, the Rev. John Brod-head. When these reverend and most respectable rgymen were members of Congress, it was righ and proper in the eyes of Democratic editors; but now, forscoth, when the American party dare to elect two elergymen from Massachusetts, "Church and State" is the cry, and the clergy must be on-

"JUST MY LUCK."—We have an excellent jokto tell of Old Phil, which is too good to be omitted in print. It appears that on the night of the fire, which occurred last week, Old Phil went to Alexandria, and after cutting around a little in his usua manner, he was detained so long, that the boat left him on shore, with one or two others. There benim on shore, with one or two others. There being no means then left to reach the city, they "took a load" to walk up. On arriving here, a fire broke out. Old Phil thought it was his property, and he made off there as fast as he could. On arriving at the fire, they were throwing furniture and other things out of the window. Phil being somewhat things out of the window. Phil being somewhat muggy, did not observe anything, and approaching somewhat near the building, something came down and struck him on the mouth: he immediately ran off, holding his mouth with a handkerchief, howling with pain, when he met a friend (Old Joe) who saked him what was the matter? He answered, speaking through his none, "J-u-s-t m-y L-u-c-k." I have been down to Alexandria, and come back, and must be hit in the moute with a store. Joe, to soothe him, asked him to take a drink, and went off together; but on atto take a drink, and went off together; but on at-tempting to drink, he found he could not open his empting to drink, he found he could be commodified in outh to put the stuff down. He was determined, nowever, to have his "sniffler;" and to effect, he placed the forefingers of his right hand to his upper aw, and those of the left to the lower, and thu opened his mouth, and got "Old Joe" to pour it down. We hope our friend Phil will, hereafter. when occasions require him to visit Alexandria, be careful not to be left behind; but more especially we would advise him, to keep away from fires or ais return from such a trip.

BALL OF THE PRESIDENT'S MOUNTED GUARD. Ball or The Parameter's Mousean Guand-This efficient and elegant mounted troop announce their second annual ball to take place on Thursday next, the 23d instant, being the day appointed by our excellent Mayor to render thanks to the Giver of all Good for the great blessings and privileges we have enjoyed during the current year. As our people generally will make a holiday on that day, a more appropriate termination thereto could not be presented than by an attendance to so agreea-ble an entertainment as is here offered.

ACCIDENT.-Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Douglass ACCIDENT.—Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Douglass, (wife of Mr. Douglass, carpenter,) whilst riding in a carryall, which contained her two daughters, son and an infent, was descending the slope near the railroad depot, the breeching broke, when the horse took fright, and ran off, but owing to the number of persons there congregated, who immediately rendered assistance, the vehicle was prevented from being precipitated over the hill, the result of which would have been disastrous. Fortunately, no injury was stained excepting fright mately, no injury was stained excepting fright.

CENTRE MARKET.—There was an elegant display of beef, mutton, veal, and pork in our meat mar-ket this morning, and business appeared to be very brisk, at former prices. The show of poultry was also good, and found ready purchasers. The sup-ply of vegetables was most abundant, and somerhat cheaper.

FUNERALS.—In our announcements of the interments whick took place yesterday, we omitted to make mention of Mathias Kraemer, a German, a member of the German Benevolent Society, who turned out in full numbers to pay the last tribute of respect to his memory. An excellent band accompanied the remains, who played appropriate music for the occasion.

WE would call the attention of our friends to the dvertisement of J. T. Evans, No. 286 Pennsylvania venue, between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets. His supply of hats and furs are of the fires quality, and in great variety.

Union Guards.—This newly organized company went through a military exercise last evening at Copp's Saloon. They were drilled by sergeant McEnry, of the Montgomery Guards, in the absence of their efficient captain, and performed the most creditable manner. rarious manoeuvres in a most creditable manner.
